Commissioner Duties & Compensation

The Port of Allyn is a municipal corporation which exercises local governmental powers. The Port has a three-member Commission which acts as the Port's policy making and regulatory body. The Commission duties include adopting a Comprehensive Plan and Scheme of Harbor Improvements, creating industrial improvement districts, establishing user rates for Port facilities, adopting the Port budget, levying taxes, providing promotional hosting expenditures, and executing contracts. Information on the legal authority of Port districts and the role of Port Commissioners is available through the Municipal Research and Services Center (MRSC) and Washington Public Ports Association (WPPA).

The duties of a Port Commissioner will likely involve an average minimum commitment of 8-12 hours per month for preparation, participation, and attendance at various meetings and community activities. Beyond the broad duties previously mentioned, Commission duties include, but are not limited to:

- Required attendance at regular Port Commission meetings, which are held on the first Monday evening of each month, from 6 p.m. to no later than 9:00 p.m. From time to time, the Port of Allyn Commission President may call special Commission meetings to handle Port business.
- Commissioners are expected to serve on regional boards and commissions, and to represent the Port Commission at various community functions. These various meetings and functions occur normally during the evenings, but may also occur occasionally on weekends, and during weekdays.
- Advise the Executive Director on long-range planning. Approve basic long- and short-range operating plans and budgets as recommended by the Executive Director in keeping with established direction, objectives, and policies.
- Decide on matters which exert major influence on the manner in which the Port's business is conducted; and in general, protect and make the most effective use of the Port of Allyn's assets.

- Commissioners are paid $128 per meeting up to 96 meetings per year. Total annual compensation is not to exceed $15,708 (1-meeting per day only).

Each Candidate should come to the interview prepared to speak to the following questions:

- As a Port Commissioner, what role would you play in the overall operation of the Port of Allyn?
- Are there any Port issues in which you have a particular interest or expertise?
- Given the limited term of the appointment, what do you hope to accomplish as a Port Commissioner?
- The Port of Allyn has taxing authority, and the Port does currently collect taxes from the citizens in its district. The Port operates under its legal authority to promote economic development and business opportunities for the communities it serves. Do you support these policies? Please explain your answer.
- You have been provided materials on the Port's statutory (legal) authority and the Port's mission statement. The Port Commission believes its number one goal is job creation. What are your ideas for how the Port should fulfill its obligations to the citizens of the Port district?
- What is your view of the Port's economic development program, including its efforts towards tourism and commercial activities?
- You have been given a copy of the Port's Comprehensive Plan. What is your view of its proposed projects?
- Because of the cyclical nature of Port-area industries and the likelihood of fluctuating Port revenue, the Port holds cash reserves to protect its solvency. Please explain your position on maintaining cash reserves.
- Do you have any specific goals, issues or projects or other contribution you would like to propose as a Port Commissioner. Please explain.
- Please provide any other comments you believe would be helpful in the Commission's evaluation of you as a Port Commissioner at the Port of Allyn.

The Commission may ask additional questions of candidates during the interview.
